Wild Life Across the World. Written and illustrated by Cherry Kearton. Introduction by Theodore Roosevelt. xxvii and 286 pp. Ills., index. Hodder & Stoughton, New York, 1914(?). 20s. 10 x 7½.

The story of a photographer and naturalist in the pursuit of wild life in natural habitats. The book covers adventures in Borneo, India, Africa, Canada and the United States. The patience, hardihood and danger in the quest can easily be read between the lines but Kearton also gives a series of pictures and a tale of adventure which will delight alike the student of wild animal life and the lover of excitement. He also records many facts of the habits of the animals he has studied.
